

Senior Architect

FourFront Design Inc., a Rapid City, SD, Architectural and Engineering design firm is interested in hiring a Senior Architect for architectural design and project management and to coordinate Architectural design project components between client(s), other design professionals and contractors. This individual will also work independently on various projects as assigned by a Department Manager. The Senior Architect may work on several concurrent projects and may oversee the entire design process or assist as a technical expert on a specialized design. When serving as a project leader, responsibilities include meeting schedule, budget and quality requirements. Vital components of this position are the ability to market the firm's capabilities and to be able to lead and mentor the firm's Architectural Department. Leadership in the firm's professional development efforts through AIA and other professional organizations is also desired.

Must have a Bachelor's degree or higher in Architecture from an accredited university. Along with a minimum of 10 years' previous architectural design experience, professional licensure, or the ability to procure it, as an architect in the states of South Dakota, Wyoming and Colorado is required. NCARB registration desired. Candidate must possess thorough understanding of sustainable design and green building issues; LEED AP strongly desired. Expertise in AutoCAD and BIM/Revit are also desired, as well as strong marketing, presentation, mentoring and written and oral communications skills.

This will be a full-time, salaried position; exact salary DOE. Complete benefits package available for eligible participants include Health, Dental, Vision and Life Insurance, 401k and Vacation/Sick Leave/Paid Holidays.
